

	superior - truly exceptional, definitely going to be successful	great - highly recommend, confident they'll be successful	strong - recommend, evidence they'll be successful	okay - potentially going to be successful	not currently demonstrating characteristics of successful applicants academic record	consistently excellent academic record	consistently strong academic record	freshman year adjustment	lots of variability in performance	no excellent performance multiple upper level challenging SLU science courses with grades of 4.0	multiple upper level challenging SLU science courses with grades of 3.75	all upper level science courses with grades above 3.25 (and taken at 4 year institutions)	several science courses <3.25, or taken over the summer or at 2 year institutions	science courses generally <3.0, many taken at 2 year institutions or during the summer overall GPA 3.8+	overall GPA 3.7+	overall GPA 3.6+	overall GPA 3.3+	overall GPA <3.3
recommendations	multiple (3+) strong recommendations from faculty members that highly recommend the student, and at least one demonstrates knowledge of the student	strong recommendations from 2 science faculty members that highly recommend the student, and at least 1 includes some identifying information about the student	recommendation from 1 science faculty member that highly recommends the student, other recommenders highly recommend the student	recommendations from non-science faculty that highly recommend the student, no strong science faculty recommendations	no strong recommendations people skills	displays a genuine sense of compassion for people as demonstrated by previous efforts to help others	compassionate, moral and mature in their interactions with others	likeable and easy to talk to	respectful	display a sense of entitlement evidence for working well in groups, chosen for leadership positions	varied evidence of working well with others in multiple contexts	recommenders mention student works well with others	student has been successful with group projects	presents no evidence of being able to work with people service activities	long-standing weekly or monthly volunteer commitment interacting with people that are different (not college students)	meaningful weekly volunteer activity where you develop relationships with others	monthly repeated volunteer service	volunteer activity every semester for multiple semesters	intermittent volunteer activities that are not repeated medical-related experience	variety of medical-related experience including individual patient interaction	variety of medical-related experience (shadowing, internships)	one shadowing experience with plans to do more	shadowing experience limited to family members	no substantial medical experience with nothing lined up in immediate future articulates well-informed personal view on current medical research or events	demonstrates familiarity with current medical research or current events	knowledgeable about a few medical topics	express interest in health care topics or questions	not interested in health care topics important SLU experiences	List the three most meaningful or significant experiences you've participated in at SLU. Select them based on if they resulted in personal growth, changed your perspective, or impacted someone else.
motivation for pursuing a health career	gives articulate and convincing reasons for going into a medical profession, demonstrates understanding of what the field will require of them	gives articulate and well thought out reasons for going into a health career, has specific reasons for choosing their specific profession	able to articulate how they arrived at their decision to pursue a health career	reasoning incomplete ie. gives personal experience with a medical problem as motivation yet has not researched that problem	reasoning inconsistent, or based on external factors interview	interviews well, powerful personality	speaks coherently and clearly, answers questions asked	mild nervousness during interview	inconsistent statements, fails to answer questions asked	interacts in an unpleasant manner personal statement	has written a powerful, unique, cohesive and articulate personal statement in correct English	interesting, cohesive and articulate personal statement in correct English	well-written personal statement without errors	unedited writing on personal statement, but good ideas	incomplete questionnaire, or personal statement