

APR Alert!

Soon, when you log on to APR, you will be asked to complete a short form indicating your race/ethnicity. The U.S. Department of Education has adopted new categories that are similar to the way the Census collects data. All institutions are now required to collect this information from current students and employees using the new format.

To make the process most convenient for you, we have built the form into APR (eSaints). Next time you log on and you are prompted to complete the form, please take a minute to do so.

Further details are also posted on the Institutional Research website at www.stlawu.edu/ir. Feel free to contact Christine if you have additional questions.
