SCOPE AND CONTENTS
The Adirondack Park Agency Collection at St. Lawrence University has two sections. The first section consists of the papers of George D. Davis who served as Wildlife Ecologist for the Temporary State Commission on the Adirondacks. Mr. Davis' papers are concerned with the Temporary State Commission and the numerous studies it conducted in reaching its conclusions. The second section of the Adirondack Park Agency Collection consists of clippings about the Adirondack Region, the Adirondack Park Agency and the Horizon Development planned for Colton, NY. There are also a few clippings about New York State and St. Lawrence County as well. In September 1968 then Governor Nelson Rockefeller formed the Commission to study the problems of the Adirondack region. The recent completion of Interstate 87 had put the whole Adirondack region within a few hours drive of millions of people. Concerns that the Adirondacks would come under increasing developmental pressure were the immediate reason for the formation of the Temporary Study Commission. After numerous studies the Commission's Final Report recommended the establishment of the Adirondack Park Agency. It is these studies, and related background information that comprise the George Davis Papers.

The second series of the Adirondack Park Agency Collection consist of the contents of several notebooks of clippings on the Adirondack Region, the Adirondack Park Agency, and the proposed Horizon second home development once planned for the Town of Colton. Most of the materials from the scrapbooks is from the 1970-73.

The third series of the Adirondack Park Agency Collection consist of additional materials obtain from various sources. The materials include pamphlets, booklets, Newsline editions, annual reports, etc.
